Institutional Profile

The Institute of Education & Research (IER) and the Department of Arts (DOA) Mangalayatan University, Aligarh, are committed to excellence in teaching, multidisciplinary research, and doctoral education (Ph.D.). Guided by the vision of the National Education Policy (NEP) 2020, both academic units promote interdisciplinary learning, critical inquiry, innovation, and scholarly collaboration. They encourage research-oriented teaching, academic engagement, and knowledge creation across education, languages, literature, humanities, and social sciences. Through their commitment to academic excellence, intellectual growth, and collaborative research, the Institute and the Department strive to nurture competent researchers, reflective educators, and socially responsible scholars capable of addressing contemporary challenges through multidisciplinary perspectives.

Birth Place of Lord Krishna

Aligarh at a Glance

Aligarh, famously known as the “Lock City of India,” is a vibrant blend of traditional craftsmanship, academic excellence, and cultural heritage. Renowned worldwide for its celebrated lock industry and entrepreneurial spirit, the city reflects the ingenuity, creativity, and resilience of its people. Aligarh is also home to the prestigious Aligarh Muslim University (AMU), a distinguished centre of higher education, intellectual discourse, and research. With its rich historical legacy, cultural diversity, and growing educational landscape, Aligarh represents a unique confluence of tradition and modernity. Its dynamic academic environment and industrial heritage make it an inspiring destination for scholarly exchange, innovation, cultural exploration, and multidisciplinary collaboration.

Mathura, Vrindavan and Agra: A Tapestry of Spirituality, Heritage and History

Mangalayatan University, Aligarh, enjoys a strategic location within reach of the culturally rich destinations of Mathura, Vrindavan and Agra, making it an ideal setting for academic, cultural, and heritage exploration. Mathura, revered as the birthplace of Lord Krishna, and Vrindavan, celebrated for its sacred temples, devotional traditions, and vibrant festivals, embody the spiritual essence of Braj Bhoomi. Prominent attractions include Shri Krishna Janmabhoomi, Dwarkadhish Temple, Banke Bihari Temple, Prem Mandir, and ISKCON Temple. Nearby Agra, globally renowned for the magnificent Taj Mahal, a UNESCO World Heritage Site, along with Agra Fort and Fatehpur Sikri, showcases India's extraordinary Mughal architecture and historical legacy. Together, these destinations offer a remarkable confluence of spirituality, art, architecture, history, and cultural diversity, enriching the academic and cultural experience of visitors to Mangalayatan University.

Conference Perspective: Connecting Languages, Cultures, and Sustainable Futures

The conference envisions multilingualism as a powerful resource, translation as a bridge across cultures, communication as a catalyst for meaningful connections, and higher education as a driving force for sustainable development. Hosted by Mangalayatan University, Aligarh, in the culturally vibrant Aligarh–Mathura region, the conference will provide an enriching platform for interdisciplinary dialogue, innovative research, and collaborative knowledge-sharing on language, literature, culture, inclusion, and sustainability in a globalized world.

Expected Academic Outcomes

The conference will foster interdisciplinary academic dialogue, collaborative research, and knowledge exchange among scholars and young researchers. It will promote innovative approaches to multilingual and inclusive higher education, strengthen academic networks, and highlight the role of universities in preserving cultural heritage while addressing the challenges of globalization and technological transformation. The conference envisions multilingualism as a resource, translation as a bridge, communication as connection, and higher education as a driver of sustainable development. Hosted by Mangalayatan University, Aligarh, in the culturally rich Aligarh–Mathura region, it will foster meaningful academic dialogue on language, culture, knowledge, inclusion, and sustainability.

Concept-Note-

India's linguistic and cultural diversity highlights the importance of multilingualism, translation, and communication in fostering knowledge exchange, inclusion, and sustainable development. This International Conference aims to bring together academicians, researchers, educators, and policymakers to explore interdisciplinary perspectives on language, communication, translation, and sustainability within contemporary higher education.

Rationale of the Conference

India's linguistic diversity creates opportunities for knowledge and cultural enrichment while posing challenges to educational accessibility. The conference explores multilingualism, translation, communication, and technology to promote inclusive higher education, research, innovation, employability, cultural preservation, and sustainable development

Major Objectives

The conference aims to:

1. Explore contemporary dimensions of multilingualism in Indian and global higher education.
2. Examine the role of translation in facilitating knowledge exchange and intercultural communication.
3. Discuss emerging trends in communication in the digital and globalized era.
4. Explore the relationship between language, culture, education, and sustainable development.
